Did You Know?

🌟 The presidential oath of office was included in the original U.S. Constitution although the U.S. Constitution is silent on how the oath of office is to be administered.

🌟 The 20th Amendment (1933) to the U.S. Constitution changed the inauguration date from early March to mid-January. This “lame duck” period has been used by presidents across the political spectrum who seek to reinforce their political agenda as they leave office.

Presidential Inaugurations & Why They Matter

In this webinar, Associate Director of the Lou Frey Institute Dr. Terri Fine will discuss the constitutional and political reasons why presidential inaugurations matter. What is the meaning of this significant event, and how does the inauguration set the tone for the new president’s first months in office? Dr. Fine will provide some useful resources and discuss ways to integrate this topic into your classroom instruction.
